AMONG the writers of fiction, whose business is to furnish that entertainment which Fancy perpetually demands, it is a standing plea, that the beauties of nature are now exhausted, that imitation has exerted all its power, and that nothing more can be done for the service of their mistress, than to exhibit a perpetual transposition of known objects, and draw new pictures, not by introducing new images, but by giving new lights and shades, a new arrangement and colouring to the old. This plea has been chearfully admitted; and Fancy, led by the hand of a skilful guide, treads over again the flowery path she has often trod before, as much enamoured with every new diversification of the same prospect, as with the first appearance of it.

IN the regions of Science, however, there is not the same indulgence: the Understanding and the Judgment travel there in the pursuit of Truth, whom they always expect to find in one simple form, free from the disguises of dress and ornament; and, as they travel with laborious step and a fixed eye, they are content to stop when the shades of night darken the prospect, and patiently wait the radiance of a new morning, to lead them forward in the path they have chosen, which, however thorny or however steep, is severely preferred to the most pleasing excursions that bring them no nearer to the object of their search. The plea, therefore, that nature is exhausted, and that nothing is left to gratify the mind but different combinations of the same ideas, when urged as a reason for multiplying unnecessary labours among the sons of Science, is not so readily admitted: the Understanding, when in possession of Truth, is satisfied with the simple acquisition; and not, like Fancy, inclined to wander after new pleasures in the diversification of objects already known, which, perhaps, may lead to Error.

BUT notwithstanding this general disinclination to accumulate labours for the sake of that pleasure which arises merely from different modes of investigating Truth, yet, as the mines of Science have been diligently opened, and their treasures widely diffused, there may be parts chosen, which, by a proper combination and arrangement, may contribute not only to entertainment but use; like the rays of the sun, collected in a ^{cave} ~~convex~~ mirror, to serve particular purposes of light and heat.

THE power of Arithmetical numbers has been tried to a vast extent, and variously applied to the improvement both of business and science. In particular, so many calculations have been made with respect to the value and use of money, that some serve only for speculation and amusement; and there is great opportunity for selecting a few that are peculiarly adapted to common business, and the daily interchanges of property among men. Those which happen in the Public Funds are, at this time, the most frequent and numerous; and to answer the purposes of that business, in some degree more perfectly than has hitherto been done, the following Tables are published. What that degree of perfection above other Tables of the same kind may be, is a matter, not of opinion and taste in which many might vary, but of accuracy and usefulness with respect to which most will agree. The approbation they meet with will, therefore, depend upon the experience of those for whom they were principally designed, the Proprietors of the Public Funds, and the Brokers who transact the business of the Funds, to whose patronage they are cheerfully committed.

AMONG

P R E F A C E.

AMONG the Brokers of Stocks are men of great honour and probity, who are candid and open in all their transactions, and incapable of mean and selfish purposes: and it is to be lamented, that a market of such importance as the present state of this nation has made theirs, should be brought into any discredit by the intrusion of bad men, who, instead of serving their country, and procuring an honest subsistence in the army or the fleet, endeavour to maintain luxurious tables and splendid equipages by sporting with the public credit.

IT is not long since the evil of Stock-jobbing was risen to such an enormous height, as to threaten great injury to every actual proprietor; particularly to many widows and orphans, who being bound to depend upon the Funds for their whole subsistence, could not possibly retreat from the approaching danger. But this evil, after many unsuccessful attempts of the Legislature to conquer it, was, like many other, at length subdued by its own violence; and the reputable Stock-brokers seem now to have it in their power effectually to prevent its return, by not suffering the most distant approaches of it to take footing in their own practice, and by opposing every effort made for its recovery by

by the desperate sons of fortune, who, not having the courage of highwaymen, take 'Change-alley rather than the road, because, tho' more injurious than highwaymen, they are less in danger of punishment by the loss either of liberty or life.

WITH respect to the other patrons to whose encouragement these Tables have been recommended, the proprietors of the Public Funds who are busy in the improvement of their fortunes; it is sufficient to say—that no motive can sanctify the accumulation of wealth, but an ardent desire to make the most honourable and virtuous use of it, by contributing to the support of good government, the increase of arts and industry, the rewards of genius and virtue, and the relief of wretchedness and want.

What GOOD, what TRUE, what FIT, we justly call,
Let this be all our care — for this is All;
To lay this TREASURE up, and hoard with haste
What ev'ry day will want, and most the last.
This done, the poorest can no wants endure;
And this not done, the richest must be poor.

An EXPLANATION of their NATURE and Use.

TABLES of Interest, at an Eighth, a Quarter, Three Eighths, a Half, Five Eighths, Three Quarters, and Seven Eighths of a POUND; and at ONE, TWO, THREE, FOUR, and FIVE POUNDS per Cent. Page 1

The PRINCIPAL, on which these several Rates of Interest are given, is 1st. PENCE, from one penny to eleven pence; 2d. SHILLINGS, from one shilling to nineteen shillings; 3d. the COMBINATIONS of shillings and pence, from one shilling and one penny to nineteen shillings and eleven pence; 4th.

C O N T E N T S and

4th. POUNDS, from one pound to ten pounds; 5th. the COMBINATIONS of units and tens in the pounds, from eleven pounds to ninety nine pounds; and 6th, the remaining articles of pounds, from one hundred pounds to one hundred thousand pounds.

This Principal, which is printed in a larger character than the Interest, is placed in the first column of every page; and is repeated, not as often as there are different rates of Interest, but only once and in the opposite page: for example; the Principal, from one penny to eleven pence, in page 2, is repeated only in page 3, because page 2 and page 3, and all the following two opposite pages in these Tables, contain ALL the Rates of Interest above-mentioned.

The whole produce of Interest is minutely given to the decimal parts of a penny, and placed on the same line with the Principal in the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh columns, according to all the Rates above-mentioned which are expressed at the top of the page. The parts of a penny are distinguished, not by a comma placed before the first figure, but by the contraction [pts] placed over them, as pounds, shillings, pence, are by l. s. d.

By the construction of these Tables it is intended, that many purposes of business shall be answered with peculiar accuracy and expedition.

E X P L A N A T I O N S.

In collecting the interest of the complicated sum £1999:19:11, instead of being obliged to put down first the interest of £1000, then of £900, then of £90, then of £9, then of 10s, then of 9s, then of 10d, and then of 1d, which make eight lines of figures; no more is necessary in these Tables, than to put down first the interest of £1900, then of £99, and then of 19s and 11d. which make but three lines of figures. So that in collecting the interest of such a complicated sum as £1999:19:11, and in proportion of all other sums less complicated, five out of eight lines of figures are saved by the COMBINATIONS given in these Tables.

Further; as the Interest is calculated at the several EIGHTHS of a pound, as well as at one, two, three, four, and five pounds per cent, and as all these different rates are printed, not in so many different parts of the book, but in two pages that open to one view, the interest at any of the several eighths of a pound may be readily connected by the eye with the interest at the rate either of one, two, three, four, or five pounds per cent; and thus the exact amount of half-yearly DIVIDENDS, at any rate of interest, and on any sum of principal however complicated, may be speedily known.

The calculations of Interest at the several EIGHTHS of a pound, which may be thus so readily taken in connexion with the other rates of interest from one pound to five pounds per cent, will also shew as exactly the value value of any quantity of Stock, at any price, whether the stock be either at a premium or a discount. For example: if the price of stock is $89\frac{3}{8}$ per cent, that is $10\frac{5}{8}$ per cent discount, what is the value of £1927 stock?

multiplied by $\frac{96: 7: 0}{2}$

The interest of $\left\{ \begin{array}{l} \text{£}1900, \text{ at } \frac{5}{8} \text{ per cent is} \\ 27, \text{ at ditto} \end{array} \right.$

192:14: 0
11:17: 6
0: 3: 4, 5
204:14:10, 5

This total of interest on £1927, at $10\frac{5}{8}$ per cent, being deducted from the principal, the remainder will be the exact value of that quantity of stock at the given price, namely £1722:5:1,5. On the contrary, if the price of stock stock is 120 $\frac{3}{8}$, that is 20 $\frac{3}{8}$ per cent premium, the true value of £1927 stock may be known by the Tables as exactly in this as in the former instance :

The interest of {	£1900, at 5 per cent is	95: 0: 0
		27, at ditto	1: 7: 0
		96: 7: 0
		4
The interest of {	£1900, at $\frac{3}{8}$ per cent is	385: 8: 0
		7: 2: 6
		27, at ditto	0: 2: 0, 3
		392: 12: 6, 3

This total of interest on £1927, at 20 $\frac{3}{8}$ per cent, being added to the principal, the total of both will be the value of that quantity of stock at the price assigned, namely £2319:12:6, 3.

These

EXPLANATIONS.

These Tables require no more explanation than is given in their several titles. With respect to their construction and extensive usefulness they are entirely new; and it is hoped they will save much time and trouble in transacting that business to which they are peculiarly adapted.

Tables, shewing the different Interest that is made by money laid out in the purchase of the different transferable Stocks, dividing $3, 3\frac{1}{2}, 4, 4\frac{1}{2}, 5$, and 6 per cent per annum Page 159

In these Tables, the price of stock, in order to answer all the probable revolutions of it, is taken as low as 71 , and continued up progressively through all the variations of a quarter a half and three quarters per cent to 120 , and from 121 with the single variation of a half per cent to 200 . But to be more particularly accommodated to the Annuities both at 3 and $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, to Bank-stock, South-sea stock, and East-India stock, the Price from 71 to 80 includes only the stock dividing 3 per cent per annum; the Price from 81 to 110 , includes the stocks dividing $3, 3\frac{1}{2}$, and 4 per cent per annum; the Price from 111 to 120 the stocks dividing $3\frac{1}{2}, 4$, and $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent per annum; and the Price from 121 to 200 the stocks dividing $4\frac{1}{2}, 5$, and 6 per cent per annum.

C O N T E N T S and

annum. The first and the fifth column of every page contain the prices of stock; and the other columns shew how much is gained upon 100 l. stock, bearing those different prices, and dividing the annual interest that is expressed at the top of each. Thus, if $118 \frac{3}{4}$ is given for 100 l. Bank-stock, which divides $4 \frac{1}{2}$ per cent per annum, the interest made by the purchase is 3 l. 15 s. 9 d. 1 f; and if $97 \frac{3}{4}$ is given for 100 l. $3 \frac{1}{2}$ per cent annuities, the interest made by that purchase is 3 l. 11 s. 7 d. 1 f.

Tables, shewing the PRESENT VALUE of an Annuity of ONE POUND, from one year to sixty years, computed at the different
Rates of 3, $3 \frac{1}{2}$, 4, $4 \frac{1}{2}$, and 5 per cent Page 175

These Tables will shew the PRESENT VALUE of any other Annuity, whether of a greater or less amount, for the same number of years, and at the same rates of interest. Of this many examples might be given; but it will be sufficient to select one with respect to the comparative value between the Annuities 1756, which are to carry a certain interest of $3 \frac{1}{2}$ per cent for 13 years, and the Annuities which now bear an interest only of 3 per cent. The present price of $3 \frac{1}{2}$ per cent Annuities 1756 is $98 \frac{1}{4}$ per cent, and the present present price of 3 per cent Annuities is $91 \frac{1}{4}$ per cent, which is 7 per cent difference in favour of the Annuities 1756, for bearing a half per cent more interest for 13 years to come. Now, as it appears by the Tables, that the present value of an Annuity of 1 l. for 13 years, at $3 \frac{1}{2}$ per cent, is no more than £. 10:6:0, the present value of an Annuity of 10 s. must, consequently, be no more than £. 5:3:0, which is £. 1:17:0 less than the difference of Price before stated: therefore, the Annuities 1756, supposing them to bear $3 \frac{1}{2}$ per cent interest no longer than 13 years, are at this time dearer than the 3 per cent Annuities by £. 1:17:0 per cent. Again; upon the supposition, that the same Annuities were to carry $3 \frac{1}{2}$ per cent for 13 years longer, making the first 13 years 26 years, then the present value of an Annuity of £. 1, at $3 \frac{1}{2}$ per cent, for 26 years, being found in the Tables to be £. 16:17:9, the present value of an Annuity of 10 s. for the same time and at the same rate of interest, must consequently be £. 8:8:10 $\frac{1}{2}$: therefore, as the present price of 3 per cent Annuities is $91 \frac{1}{4}$, the present value of Annuities carrying a half per cent more interest for 26 years to come, must be $99 \frac{5}{8}$ and 0:1:4 $\frac{1}{2}$ more. In this calculation, the fractions of a penny are omitted.

C O N T E N T S and

Tables, shewing the PRESENT VALUE of an Annuity of One Pound for a SINGLE LIFE, from the Age of eight years to the Age of seventy-nine years; computed at the several Rates of 3, 3 $\frac{1}{2}$, 4, 4 $\frac{1}{2}$, and 5 per cent Page 183

These Tables are formed upon the principles of the celebrated Mr. DE MOIVRE, and taken, together with the Tables immediately preceding, from the Calculations of the late Mr. JAMES DODSON, whose unwearied diligence as well as great skill and accuracy in the solution of the most abstruse questions, will transmit his name to posterity with singular honour.

By these Tables the PRESENT VALUE of any other LIFE ANNUITY for the same number of years, and at the same rates of interest, may be exactly known. For example:

The present value of an Annuity of £ 48, payable during the life of a person of 16 years of age, interest being at 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, is to be thus ascertained: in the first column of page 185 will be found 16, the age of the Annuitant, and even with it in the column under 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent £ 17:11:9,12 the present value of an annuity of £ 1. This sum multiplied by 12, will produce £ 211:1:1,44; and as the twelves in 48 (the annuity in question) are four, the product of 211:1:1,44 multiplied by 4, will give the true value sought for, which is £ 844:4:5,76. Annuity

					12
					211: 1:1,44
					4
					844: 4:5,76

Again; if the present value of an Annuity of £ 37, payable in the same manner, is required, then, as the nines in 37 are four, £ 17:11:9,12 must be multiplied by 9, and the product of that multiplication by 4, which will produce £ 633:3:4,32. But as four times 9 make but 36, once £ 17:11:9,12 must be added to make 37, and the Total of that addition will be the value required, namely, £ 650:15:1,44.

Tables of Interest at $3\frac{1}{2}$, 4, and 5 per cent, for any number of DAYS from one day to ninety-six days, and for single months from one month to twelve months, on One Pound principal and progressively to One Thousand Pounds.

These Tables are printed from the Tables in common use ; and being in common use, they require no explanation.

Tables, shewing the Amount of each Capital in the several transferable Stocks, the Days and Hours of transferring, and the Time of paying Half-yearly Dividends ; also the Holidays that are observed at the Public Offices throughout the Year.

Great care has been taken to make these tables exact : but as the Transfer-days are frequently changed, and as those at the South-sea House are not yet adjusted, it is hoped that any variation that may happen from those that are mentioned in these Tables, will be readily excused and inserted.

The

The preceding Table shews the number of days, from any day in each of the months standing at the head of each column, to the same day in any other month in the same column. Thus, from the 1st, 5th, 10th, or 20th day of June to the same day in July is 30 days, in August 61, in September 92, in October 122, in November 153, in December 183, and so on.

Further; if the number of days from the 5th day of June to the 10th day of any other month is required, 5 is to be added; and, on the contrary, if the days from the 10th day of June to the 5th day of any other month is the number sought for, 5 is to be subtracted.
